HISTORY SHOWS GROWTH

Holy Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church of Narberth will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary with special services Sunday mornings, January 10 and 17, and with a congregational dinner, Friday evening, January 15.

At the 11 o'clock service this Sunday morning, the Rev. C. P. Swank, D.D., superintendent of Missions of the Synod of East Pennsylvania, will be the speaker. A picture of the Rev. Milton E. McLinn, the first pastor of Holy Trinity who served the congregation from January, 1923, to January, 1927, will be presented to the congregation by Miss Ruth Hoffsten, chairman of the committee. M. R. Mackell will accept the picture for the congregation.

The dinner on the 15th, the actual birth date of the organization, is expected to be served to 150 members of the congregation. Herman E. Metius will preside as toastmaster while Mildred Warner Bailly will direct the music. Among the special guests will be Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Daugherty, former superintendent of Missions and who was instrumental in organizing the church; the Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Wolf, of Drexel Hill, Intermediate Secretary of the Luther League, who rendered service to the congregation after the resignation of Dr. McLinn; Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Ney, neighboring pastor at Brookline and former president.

Main Lines

Relief cases in Lower Merion last week numbered fifty-two, an increase of four; Narberth's were four, a drop of one case.

Montgomery County has received $140,477 from the State Treasury as the county's share in the gasoline tax refund. It will probably be used for road improvements.

In view of several false alarms turned in to fire companies, Anthony McGrann, Lower Merion Township fire marshal, issues the warning that: "Any person caught turning in false alarms will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, which means a fine of $25 or thirty to sixty days in jail."

Through the Main Line Federation of Churches, 700 children received gifts and toys at Christmas. The gifts were selected from the Bryn Mawr headquarters' toy room by parents who later gave them to their children.

Miss Mary Hall Ingham, 70, pioneer suffragist, died in Bryn Mawr Hospital on New Year's Day. She was arrested three times in 1917, once for picketing, twice for burning Woodrow Wilson's book, "The New Freedom" and the President's effigy. She was a resident of Bryn Mawr.

A couple eloping from Lancaster were arrested this week by Lower Merion Officers Plumridge and Muloli who stopped their taxicab on Lancaster pike, Bryn Mawr. The man, John Hopkins, 28, is wanted for robbing a Lancaster theatre safe of $431.50. The girl is Ticie Swan, 16.

Joseph B. Allen, president of the Bryn Mawr Fire Company, has resigned as treasurer of the Montgomery County Firemen's Association.

Aiding the Bureau for Colored Children campaign now underway in Philadelphia are Matthew H. McCloskey, Overbrook, vice-chairman; Horace P. Liversidge, Cynwyd, chairman of the men's division; Ralph T. Senter, Overbrook, division leader.

Latest returns from the annual Christmas Seal sale show receipts from Narberth and Lower Merion (except Bala-Cynwyd) of $4828.97, from Bala-Cynwyd of $830.40.

Six additional cases of scarlet fever in Lower Merion were reported last week by Health Officer Marvin E. Reynolds. There were also four new cases of mumps, five of chickenpox, one of pneumonia.

Auto Club Manager Cautions on Speed

Research Director Urges Early Diagnosis Where Cancer is Suspected

ADDRESS WOMEN'S CLUB

F. E. Ballantyne, general manager of the American Automobile Association, in addressing the Narberth Women's Community Club on Street and Highway Safety, said: "Speed is not always responsible for accidents as there are many contributing factors. Speed is at times profitable, but a driver does not gain if he weaves recklessly in and out of traffic, disregarding the proper side to pass or by passing standing trolleys or buses."

He stated that the roads in Lower Merion Township were not built for high speed and if one traveled at the proper rate of twenty-five miles per hour, he would reach his destination easily.

Dr. Stanley Reimann, director of Research at the Lankenau Hospital, gave a valuable talk on "Cancer, Its Early Diagnosis and Possible Cure." He also spoke of the eight patients who attended the Cancer Forum in Philadelphia, who had unsuspected cases of cancer. When asked how these cases were diagnosed, Dr. Reimann said a piece of the suspected tissue was taken away from the patient, with an anesthetic of course, then given laboratory treatment and finally put under the microscope to be diagnosed. If cancer, then the patient is given treatment immediately and if the spot is local and has not disseminated, the patient will eventually be cured. Delay treatment a week and the infected tissue will

Zieglersville Burial for Suffocation Victim

Fred Widman's Last Wish to be Granted as Sister is Found

DIED AS HOUSE BURNED YEARLY REPORT GIVEN

The last wish of Fred Widman will be granted.

Widman, or Whitman, as he was better known hereabouts, who died as his small frame house in Penn Valley burned to the ground last Saturday, had always wanted to be buried in Zieglersville. Wednesday, after nearly a week's search, Lower Merion police located a sister of the aged recluse at Hendricks, Pa.

She is Mary Bohenger and lives with John Young, husband of a niece of the dead man. With the aid of funds given by a fraternal organization of which he was a member, Widman will be buried at Zieglersville, near Souderton.

Early last Saturday a four-alarm fire brought the Narberth, Cynwyd and Ardmore fire companies to his dwelling at McClenaghan's Mill and Old Gulph roads, Penn Valley. Lower Merion patrolmen, entering the house, found Widman's body in the hallway. It is believed he died of suffocation.

Due to a lack of water supply the firemen were obliged to confine their efforts to preventing a spread of the flames to other homes.

Widman boasted of two things, his penmanship and that he was a pioneer in the industry of bottling vinegar.

Mr. Suplee reported nine cases of scarlet fever and one each of diphtheria, chickenpox and measles for the month of December. His yearly report showed there were 106 cases of contagious disease in Narberth during 1936, while 121 permits were issued to handlers of food.

WFIL Withdraws Bala Radio Tower Application

WFIL's application to the Lower Merion Board of Adjustment for a zoning variance was withdrawn Wednesday when T. William Roberts, St. Asaphs road, Bala, refused to alter his position regarding his contract with West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

The withdrawal came in a letter to Evan L. James, secretary of the Board of Adjustment, from Frank H. Mancill, counsel for WFIL.

The company proposed to erect a radio tower, control station and garage on the east side of Glen road, 1300 feet north of City line, Bala.

Mr. Roberts, who with his brother owns about seventy acres of land in that vicinity, holds a ten-year restriction again the West Laurel Hill Cemetery Company land, now zoned for "A" residence use. This classification cannot be changed without his consent, and the agreement, recorded at Norristown, has seven years to run.

Home Plus Health Equals Happiness, Dr. Krusen Tells Bala-Cynwyd Club

"The American Home," said Dr. Wilmer Krusen in his talk at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd Wednesday afternoon, "is the most important thing in modern civilization. Next comes health and happiness, for in order to have both of the latter, one must have a well-ordered home."

While the women of this country have entered offices and the various professions and art, they still have time to manage a well-ordered home, he declared, and said that women of America in the long run were better politicians than men and in general know more about legislative procedure.

In regard to the education of the child, Dr. Krusen, who is president of the College of Pharmacy and Science, Philadelphia, pointed out that often too much was left to the schools. In order to have happiness, he said, the child must have a happy home life and be guided by his or her parents in the great questions of life.

Happiness, he declared, depends greatly on oneself. If you give the best, you receive the best. Many fine friendships have been formed by those interested in the same projects, and the result is great happiness.

He also spoke of public health projects which affect a community, such as the water supply, sewage, etc., and also advocated the adoption of preventive medicine, stating that both the young and old should receive medical examination at least twice a year, especially adults. Health is also a vital factor in the home, and if one is healthy, naturally he is happy.

THANKS GIVEN DONORS

Narberth's Voluntary Emergency Relief brought Christmas happiness to forty-three families with gifts and generous baskets of food. Milk, Christmas trees, toys, food, clothing, coal, shoes and medicine were furnished this season. All Christmas distributions were ample for one week's consumption.

As private donations are the only means by which this branch of the work can be continued, the committee expresses its thanks to all those who contributed this past year and extends the season's greetings for a happy, prosperous and contented New Year. Merion Park Owners Loan Historic Chalice to Church

The Willcox chalice, which holds much of the history of the Catholic Church in its golden calyx, was used again in the celebration of solemn high mass last Thursday in the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle at Chester Heights.

Its use followed the consecration of two new Carrara marble altars in the historic church which was formerly known as Ivy Mills.

Regarded as the first chalice used in the Holy Sacrifice of Mass in Pennsylvania, it was loaned for the occasion by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Willcox, of Merion Park. It has been in their family for more than 200 years.

The chalice, made of solid gold, is one of a number of sacred vessels, including a paten and several pyxes, that were purchased in England by Elizabeth Cole, who lived at Ivy Bridge, Worcestershire, before she became the wife of Thomas Willcox.

Edynfred Lewis Will Lead Bal-Cyn Choral

Gondoliers to be Whipped Into Shape by Dr. Tily's Assistant Conductor

WILL REHEARSE MONDAY

Announcement was made Monday evening at the rehearsal of the Gondoliers, this year's choice of Gilbert and Sullivan Operettas by the Bala-Cynwyd Choral, that the work of conducting which has been carried on so ably by James Tilbury, of Narberth, will be carried on by Edynfred Lewis, assistant conductor of the Strawbridge and Clothier Chorus. Mr. Tilbury will have charge of cast rehearsals and will also take one of the principal roles, that of the Duke of Barataria.

Mr. Lewis will direct the choral beginning next Monday evening in the auditorium of the Cynwyd School. Much interest has been shown this year by the local Gilbert and Sullivan enthusiasts and they are working hard to have their production of the Gondoliers maintain the high standard of their previous performances.

The new conductor was introduced to the assembled choral by Charles S. Shinn, president, and he was warmly greeted by those present. Mr. Lewis reminded his listeners that success in music, means hard work and faithful attendance at rehearsals. He stated that he considered it a compliment to be asked to work with the Bala-Cynwyd Choral, which is the oldest musical organization on the Main Line. The importance of preserving the tradition of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, which is so often spoiled by even professionals in their desire to be modern, was emphasized.

A block of seats has been reserved for the Bala-Cynwyd Choral for Wednesday evening when they will attend the production of the Gondoliers by the D'Oyley-Carte Company.

"Boys—Not Devils"

First in a series of three articles by W. H. Clark, Field Commissioner for Cubbing, Valley Forge Council, Delaware and Montgomery Counties, Boy Scouts of America.

Anyone dealing with a boy should be sympathetic. This is only possible if he has some understanding of the successive stages through which a boy passes. These stages merge continuously one into another, but involve a constantly increasing responsibility and freedom to participate in the affairs to which he is related. We recognize that boys of the same calendar age may vary widely and also recognize that the following seven periods are seven instances caught as with a movie camera and selected out of a continuous film.

1. Helpless or "Wee" period (0-3).
2. Pre-school or "Knee" period (3-6).
3. Wonder of "See" period (6-9).
4. Individualistic or "Me" period (9-12).
5. Gang or "We" period (12-15).
6. Romantic or "She" period (15-18).
7. Citizen or "Free" period (18-21).

In this article we want to discuss the fourth group, the "individualistic" or "Me" period boy. In this period physical growth is less rapid, energy is being stored up and the boy is more resistant to disease except probably pneumonia. It is the maximum age for games, two-thirds of them involving considerable body movement, including running. The boy fatigues less easily. It is a period of mastery, fighting, competition and keen rivalry. The interest span is short, but intense and educationally it is a period of great importance in the formation of basic habits.

Co-ordination of eye and hand, of muscles and all senses are being built through use, thus laying foundations for future skills. He likes to make things, to build shacks, to collect things and to play hard. In this period the boy passes from a make-believe world into one where he wants objective facts. He likes puzzles, tricks, pets, shows and games. He admires power and the ability to do. Harmony, joy, success in purposeful efforts are vital to the development of a social personality which is expanding and will soon blossom forth more fully.

But we are falling into the "arm chair" study trap so common to the adult when he tries to figure out a boy. Rather let us turn to a group of boys (9-12) loose in the vacant lot just outside our window. In this, the finest of laboratories, let us watch—listen—then write.

Look at them! They do not contribute greatly to concentration nor an uninterrupted flow of thought on our part because things are doing out there in many and noisy directions.

The first fact that comes shattering our contemplation is that boys have vocal cords and use them. Yes, they use them often and lustily and with frequent embarrassment to all concerned, as well as to those not very much concerned. These vocal cords are natural, God-given and as such have the same right to get practice as any other part of the body. The only way in which a boy can learn to express himself mentally and physically is to practice expression—to use his vocal cords. No matter how much he hears others, he must have his chance.

The boy has another difficulty and it is more troublesome than we think. It arises from the ever-present danger of saying the right thing at the wrong time. He listens with all his might to what we adults have to say. How much is good and how much of it can be taken over to the neighbors? Not all of it we can assure you. How often has a boy been punished when the company left just for repeating Mother or Dad's conversation, out of turn? And why shouldn't a boy be able to repeat anything, anywhere? Well—you answer. (In the next article we will take up the muscular or "motor" side of this boy in our vacant lot, that answers the question, "Mother, what shall I do.") grow one per cent; two weeks may be two or one and one-half per cent. No one, said Dr. Reimann, can diagnose cancer, by merely looking at a patient. There must be laboratory diagnosis for the earliest stage, for if cancer can be diagnosed by looking, then it is practically incurable. Dr. Reimann also definitely stated that Cancer Research had made definite progress and expected to get still better results. A resolution was passed by the members to aid the institute in its effort to stamp out this disease.

An incinerator plant that would burn 150 tons of trash and garbage daily is planned by Lower Merion Township on the site it recently purchased in Penn Valley bounded by Jefferson street, Mary Waters Ford and Centennial roads.

A report on the plan, prepared by Albright & Friel, Inc., Philadelphia engineers, was presented at a special meeting of the township commissioners last Wednesday night, by Dr. Charles Seidel, chairman of the special incinerator committee.

While various details remain to be worked out, the commissioners are considering a total plant investment of $130,000. If a Public Works' Administration grant can be obtained 45 per cent of the cost will be borne by the Federal Government.

Other speakers of the afternoon were Mrs. John J. H. Phillips, chairman of State Health and Mrs. Philip Hughes, of Haverford, a member of the Auxiliary of the Cancer Research Institute, of Lankenau Hospital. Mrs. E. J. Pollock was in charge of the program and Mrs. Ralph C. Heath, the president, gave New Year's Greetings to the club members and their guests.

MAGICIAN

"I'm a long distance operator. I don't know how many thousand calls I've handled, but I still get a kick out of it. Here I sit at my switchboard. You, in your home or office, decide that you want to talk to someone who may be many miles away. I say a few words, make a few simple movements with my hands and—Presto!—here's your party! Is it any wonder that I sometimes feel like a magician?"

Business men, too, have found magic in long distance service. Magic that gets more business done in shorter time at less cost. They use long distance to make appointments, secure orders, speed shipments, answer complaints, issue instructions—to make all kinds of business contacts. Long distance has many uses that you should know about. It has obtained results that may amaze you. Let us tell you about them. Call the Business Office.

"Dodsworth" Week-End Play at Narberth; "Craig's Wife" Monday & Tuesday

To please his wife a middle western business man retires and takes her on a trip abroad. She seeks romance and finds it for a time, while he wants only rest and contentment. This is the plot of "Dodsworth" at the Narberth Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, but plots are not of primary interest to Sinclair Lewis. "Dodsworth" is a great picture because of its characterizations and because of its revelations of human reactions to environment. Rising to new heights in the drama are Walter Huston in the title role, Ruth Chatterton as the wife, and Mary Astor as the woman who finds Dodsworth.

"Craig's Wife," a sprightly comedy with Rosalind Russell, will be shown Monday and Tuesday.

Wednesday (Cash Award Night) brings to the Narberth, Lawrence Tibbett's golden tenor in "Under Your Spell."

Thursday there will be a return engagement of "The Guardsman" with Lynne Fontanne and Alfred Lunt.

Next Friday and Saturday "Reunion," the second feature film with the Dionne Quintuplets, will be the attraction.

"Love on the Run" With Gable, Crawford, Tone Feature at Egyptian Now

"Love on the Run," at the Egyptian this week-end, features Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in a comedy-romance, in which heiress Joan flees from marrying a European count, and Clark, a reporter, accompanies her in a mad dash across Europe. Also in the cast are Franchot Tone, Reginald Owen and Donald Meek. An added attraction is Walt Disney's "Mickey's Moving Day."

Monday and Tuesday Walter Huston will be seen in the role he made famous on the stage, "Dodsworth." In support are Ruth Chatterton as the romance-seeking wife and Mary Astor.

Wednesday and (Bank Night) Thursday the feature will be "The Gay Desperado," tale of love, gangsters and music in Mexico. Nino Martini, Metropolitan Opera tenor, and Leo Carrillo are co-starred. Ida Lupino provides the heart throbs.

Next week-end Eleanor Powell, frequently described as the world's greatest feminine tap dancer, will be seen in "Born to Dance."

The Spectator

The Politicians and the Public

Ralph Adams Cram, on a rampage induced by some of the things which occurred during the recent campaign, arrives at the conclusion that the politicians have become the worst kind of public nuisances, and his despair is deep because he believes nothing can be done about it. Of course, he advances an empirical solution to the problem and he goes to lengths in describing a vast restriction of the right of suffrage, which, he asserts, will better conserve democracy as it was conceived in our Constitution. We suppose, however, that nobody knows better than America's most distinguished architect how little chance there is for a throwback to the real intent of the young men who are called the Founding Fathers, and who reserved voting privileges to a comparatively small number of American citizens. The Constitution they molded was never a "people's constitution," as the people were feared greatly as a source of original action, and the record makes it plain that such concessions as were granted were only devised as an inducement for the popular ratification which had to occur. As it was, only 5% of the entire white male population of the country voted on the issue to accept or reject and the majority in favor was of decidedly slight proportions. The palaver we have been hearing recently about a sacrosanct American way is one of the stupid things which Mr. Cram may be blaming on the politicians, but he should not overlook the editors who were the chief proponents of this particular heresy.

There are probably not many of us who expect that the political devices of those who have been charged recently with power will be different in any respect from that to which we have been accustomed for these many years. In fact, we can reasonably look for a great many more specious maneuvers, for the Democrats will not be content until they uproot what is left of Republican strongholds, which is probably accountable for the faces which the State Administration is now making at Mayor Wilson. Also it can supply the reason for the drive against the existence of the Municipal Court, which is doing an extraordinary amount of valuable work at a comparatively low cost, but it is hardly to be expected that the numerous court jobs at the disposal of the judges should not be receiving some attention, even if it is necessary to put through a ripper bill to control the situation. In addition to that, there is one Honorable Eugene Bonniwell, elected to the court as a Democrat, but who strayed from the reservation on the advent of Earle, and that kind of high treason must be punished at all costs, according to the code which governs all practical politics irrespective of the party involved.

Some very profound reasons are advanced as to why these essentially unpatriotic political organizations are tolerated so indefinitely, and all of them may be accurate, but a more practical explanation would seem to lie in the fact that taxes are maintained by the machines on rather a moderate basis (as regards the amount charged) and that citizens fail to see any particular personal gains which would come to them as a result of getting excited about the oligarchies. Of course, it may not be agreed generally that taxes are moderate, but we think it can be argued better that they are, and it is submitted that the most pertinent discussion should revolve on the very meager returns which the inhabitants of large cities are getting from what they pay. At this point the broad subject of esthetics would enter, the manner in which beauty has almost departed from the life of the people at large, and which might be regained and nourished at a cost which may prove to be less than what is now being paid to maintain the army of drones which Wilson very properly desires to chase from City Hall. Our Frank Schrepfer should be the lad to develop this theory of public expenditures, for none knows it better, and there is a notable opportunity for him to provide a very substantial service.

When the race starts to confess its sins of omission, which, in the life of the average citizen, transcend in importance those of commission, we may then assume that a sanctified democracy has begun to yield its finest fruit.

Loan Association Declares Dividend

4 Per Cent Available to Shareholders; Reserve Also Provided

PRESIDENT OPTIMISTIC

The Lower Merion Federal Savings and Loan Association with offices at 35 E. Lancaster avenue, Ardmore, declared dividends on Monday for all classes of shares at the annual rate of 4%, payable to shareholders of record, December 31, 1936. In addition to the dividend, provision was made for a 1 per cent bonus reserve for all installment thrift shares, where payments are made regularly by holders without being delinquent more than sixty days at one time. According to L. A. Eppinger, president of the institution, this action marked the close of the first five and one-half months' operation under a Federal Charter, the results of which were more than expected.

Insurance of savings share accounts up to $5000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, Washington, D. C., was credited by the management for an increase in the volume of share investments in the last five and one-half months.

"There is no doubt about improved business conditions along the Main Line section," Eppinger said. He pointed out that real estate prices were rising and increased rents indicated the scarcity of vacant homes in this section.

Newspapers Best for Ads, Says Auto Agency Head

In a letter sent by H. T. Ewald, president of Campbell-Ewald Company, Detroit advertising agency, to the publisher of this paper he places newspaper advertising as the most important of publicity media. His letter in part follows:

"All advertising media are important, of course, but the Campbell-Ewald Company has always considered the newspaper the most vital factor in influencing the local market for a national producer, and we and our clients continue to hold this same conviction today.

"Our largest individual client, the Chevrolet Motor Company, has just completed the most successful year in its history. It has sold 1,125,000 1936 Chevrolets, taking first place in both passenger car and truck sales for the seventh time in the past ten years. It has also sold more than 2,000,000 used cars, breaking all previous sales records in that important field as well. All of which, you will agree, is a magnificent selling achievement.

"In that achievement, the newspapers of America—your newspaper—have played an important part, and I want to thank you most sincerely on behalf of the Chevrolet Motor Company and my own organization.

"My thanks to you again and my very best wishes for a Happy, Prosperous New Year in 1937."

Chevrolet motor cars are sold locally by the Kirsch Chevrolet Company of Bala-Cynwyd.

Lower Merion's basketball players resume league activities tonight. The team journeys to Abington to enjoy with the circuit's finest collection of indoor football players in a basketball game—the third of such efforts for the locals this season. The record as you probably know stands one loss to Upper Darby and one victory over Radnor up to the present. The tussles with Coatesville, Pottstown and Williamson Trade School were just so many games for fun and development, or something. They were played entirely in the interest of sport, while the game tonight will resume the crusade for blood and honors. From past performances, there will be blood, but I can't be sure of the honors.

Abington never has had a real basketball team. The boys who make up the squad for the York road institution usually have plenty of beef and brawn and that indefinable quality known as fight between the ribs, but when it comes to finesse and flourish in basketball, the Abingtons just haven't had it. George Erb is the new coach up yonder this season. George knows something about the game, particularly from an officiating standpoint, and it is possible that he will be able to teach the boys a few fine points about the floor game if given time.

Lower Merion should have a good team this season. From past performance, however, we see nothing but clouds on the horizon. The boys who should be bearing up under pressure are forgetting fundamentals and dealing in crudities. It is up to Coach Erb to yank some of the rebels and show a few new faces in the lineup. (Hi Steve.)

Main Liners will follow the fortunes of Penn with increased interest this season. Roger Hanger, former Lower Merion great is Co-captain of the team with Franny Murray, while Ray Stanley is a real candidate for a regular berth as guard. Ray is the most popular player on the floor to almost any audience that happens to attend one of the games. It is a rare thing for a Palestra audience to call for a player, but more than once has the call gone forth from the stand, "We want Stanley." They usually get him, too, for Lou Jourde, the coach, is a fine sport, has a good imagination and an appreciation for the dramatic.

Chuck Viguers, Narberth lad, played a splendid game against Williamson Trade School Tuesday night at center. He was mainly responsible for Lower Merion's 25-24 victory over the invaders. Viguers is an extremely tall player with long arms and a third baseman's hands. He can pick a basketball off the floor with one hand, holding it on top with his strong fingers. Quite a feat for a young fellow.

The Maroon team lacks a scoring punch, as we stated early in December, and that statement can be repeated as the season has progressed through five games. It will pay that group of players, who are now doing most of the work in the games, to do a lot of shooting. If a team shoots enough, the law of averages must arrange for a certain amount of good results. I would certainly like to see the team work for more spot shooting and then bombard the backboard with their efforts.

Mickey Gavin was a spectator at the game. It was nice to see the old boy out of the hospital and back among the men and boys who have loved him for many years.

Holy Trinity Lutheran Members to Mark Church's 15th Anniversary

dent of the East Pennsylvania Synod; and the Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Kan-zinger, of Ardmore, president of the Philadelphia Conference and member of the Board of Home Missions of the Synod.

At the second service, Sunday morning, January 17, the speaker will be the man who preached the first sermon to the congregation, namely, the Rev. D. Burt Smith, D.D., Associate Editor of Sunday School Literature of the United Lutheran Church. It is planned also to have three-minute "Reminiscences" as follows:

"Beginning a Church," Georgianna Hoffsten.

"Building a Church," P. B. Krout.

"Organizing a Church," Mrs. W. G. Briner.

"Financing a Church," W. S. Thompson.

"Advancing the Church," A. H. Durboraw.

There will be special music furnished at the services by the senior choir of fourteen, under the direction of Margaret Squier, church organist, and by the junior choir of twenty-five voices, Olive B. McLaughlin, director.

Holy Trinity Lutheran Church came into being after a canvass had been made of Narberth in the fall of 1921 by the Misses Georgianna and Ruth Hoffsten together with Mrs. Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Wasseen, Messrs. Mackell, Nidecker and Hacker. It resulted in the first public service December 18, 1921, held in the old Y. M. C. A. Building with Dr. D. Burt Smith, preaching the sermon.

Thirty-one charter members were received on the date of organization, January 15, 1922. Of that number the following still reside in Narberth or Philadelphia: Carl Greyer, Georgianna Hoffsten, Ruth Hoffsten, Louise Hensler, P. B. Krout, Sara E. Krout (Mrs. P. B.), Anna M. Klenk, Martin A. Lang, Magdalena Lang (Mrs. M. A.), Milton R. Mackell, Joseph H. Shuff, Mary W. Shuff (Mrs. J. H.), Ebba R. Sjolholm (Mrs. H. M. Griest), Caroline H. Weiss (Mrs. S. B.), Ethel E. Mackell (Mrs. M. R.) and Salina Sell (Mrs. W. H.).

The first Council elected and installed February 19, 1922, was composed of Joseph H. Shuff, John Weigel, Louis H. Frank, P. B. Krout, M. R. Mackell, John E. Nidecker and William C. Zimmer.

The next step was the organization of the Bible School on March 5, 1922.

On the occasion of the first anniversary of the first service a call was extended to the Rev. M. E. McLinn, of Woodbine, Md., to become the pastor of Holy Trinity. He accepted and entered upon his work early in January, 1923.

The lot at the corner of Narberth and Woodbine avenues, which had been purchased May 1, 1922, was formally dedicated by the congregation on June 17, 1923. George Baum was then employed as architect to draw plans for the proposed church building. A year later in May, 1924, ground was broken and work got under way under the direction of the Building Committee: P. B. Krout, chairman; George E. Albert, S. J. Stoughton, John Weigel, J. H. Shuff, H. E. Metius, secretary and M. R. Mackell, treasurer.

At the cornerstone laying service September 7, 1924, Rev. McLinn was assisted by the following: Rev. A. Pohlman, D.D., Temple Church, Philadelphia; Rev. H. C. Shindle, Narberth; Rev. A. C. Kan-zinger, St. Paul's, Ardmore; Rev. C. P. Swank, D.D., Muhlenberg Memorial Church, Philadelphia; Rev. John Van Ness, D.D., Narberth Presbyterian Church; Rev. S. D. Daugherty, D.D.

At the dedication services, May 24-28, 1925, the assisting clergymen were: Rev. J. W. Singmaster, D.D., L.L.D., president of the Gettysburg Seminary; Rev. I. Chantry Hoffman, D.D., Board of American Missions; Rev. N. R. Melhorn, D.D., Editor "The Lutheran"; Rev. S. D. Daugherty, D.D., Superintendent of Missions; Rev. E. A. Chamberlin, Grace Church, Trenton; Mrs. A. Pohlman, Philadelphia.

Also the following local clergymen brought the well wishes of their congregations on Community Night: Rev. John Van Ness, D.D., Presbyterian Church; Rev. A. Sheridan Dawson, Methodist Church; Rev. Robert E. Keighton, Baptist Church.

In January, 1927, Dr. McLinn was compelled to resign due to ill health. He was succeeded June 1, 1927, by the Rev. Cletus A. Senft, who had just been graduated from the Seminary at Gettysburg and who is the present pastor.

An organ was installed and dedicated December 3, 1927.

A Loyalty Crusade held during the month of November, 1930, under the direction of John E. Hummon, D.D., representing the Church Building Fund Campaign Bureau of Philadelphia, resulted in the raising of $25,000 in cash and pledges. At the time the committee which served was: S. J. McCartney, chairman; John A. Baily, W. G. Briner, W. F. McComas and J. C. Van Newkirk.

During the fifteen years of history 464 members have been received, 80 babies have been baptized, 29 weddings solemnized, 59 burial services held. $54,558 have been contributed to current expenses, $45,472 for debt reduction and $8,805 for benevolences. The present membership is 270.

Montgomery County's 1936 million-dollar road improvement project is 80 per cent complete, according to County Commissioner Fred C. Peters, Ardmore, who said 63.9 miles of roads were reconstructed in the year, giving employment to from 700 to 1300 men.

Cases of contagious disease in Lower Merion numbered 729 in 1936, a decrease of 162 cases from the 1935 figures.

A "daylight robber" this week ransacked four Ardmore apartments, stole a $200 seal coat from Miss Ruth N. Stoll, Lower Merion school teacher, who lives in the Hamilton Court Apartments, and $100 worth of jewelry from Miss Elizabeth Duffey, in the same building.

Admiral Albert Gleaves, U. S. N., retired, commander of the cruiser and transport force during the World War, died Wednesday at his home in Haverford, aged 79.

Called to Son's Side

Mrs. Roy C. Williams, Merion avenue, Narberth, was called to Youngstown, Ohio, Monday, where her son, Roy C. Williams, Jr., is in a hospital suffering from a painful injury.

Mr. Williams, who is employed in a Youngstown steel mill, was severely burned on the legs in a plant accident. He will probably be in the hospital for a couple of weeks.

His mother, who recently was appointed a member of the Narberth Board of Health, was unable to attend its reorganization meeting this week and will be sworn into office at a later date.
